DAILY DEMOCRAT-FORUM

(Successor to the Maryville Republican)

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, MONDAY, JAN. 15, 1912. NO. 193.

ADDRESS TO CLASS

WAS GIVEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON BY REV. SPICKERMAN.

AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

His Sermon Was on "Preparation and Was Well Received—Other Numbers on the Program.

The cold weather did not prevent a good attendance at the baccalaureate services for the mid-winter graduating class of the Maryville high school in the auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

All the ministers of the city, Dr. J. S. Ford of the First M. E. church, Rev. W. J. Parvin of the M. E. church, South, Rev. Claude J. Miller of the First Christian church and Rev. Le Larrel of the First Baptist church, occupied places on the platform with the speaker of the day, Rev. R. J. Spickerman of Rock Port.

The class march was played by Miss Lillian Lindholm of the high school faculty as the class members and faculty marched in and took the seats reserved for them. Those in the class are Anna Bainum, Elta Wood, Gertrude Mason, Lucile Carter, Marjorie Wilfley, Cecle Fisher, Mae Growney, Fred Hutchison, Ernest Yeaman and Wood Forcade.

The State Normal quartet, Professor P. O. Landon, Lona Perrin, Harry Mutz and Orlo Quinn, then sang the chant anthem, "Arise, Shine," which was followed by the congregation singing, "Coronation."

Rev. Claude J. Miller read the Scripture lesson found in Matthew the 7th chapter, from the 13th to the 29th verses, after which Rev. W. J. Parvin led in prayer.

"Rock of Ages" was sung by the Normal quartet.

At the close of the sermon Miss Marie Jones sang "The Good Shepherd," and Rev. Spickerman gave the benediction.

The sermon given by Rev. Spickerman was well received and had been looked forward to with more than ordinary interest because the speaker is a former Maryville young man and a graduate of the Maryville high school. He is a fluent and eloquent speaker and held the closest attention of his hearers throughout his discourse.

The speaker said he appreciated the privilege of coming back to his home town and speaking to the class in the school from which he had graduated.

"Standing before a class of young people just about to embark on a life work in the beginning of a century of the greatest progress the world has ever known is thrilling," said Rev. Spickerman.

"The key note of the progress of the present century is preparation.

"I will take for my text Prov. 4:20—'The sluggard will not plow, by reason of the cold, therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.'

"In that climate, the spring season, when plowing must be done, is cold and wet. If a man postpones plowing till the weather is good, and the work can be done easily, it is too late, and the harvest is lost. The struggles necessary to perfect life are like plowing in the spring-time, when it is cold and wet. Success later in life is like the harvest.

"The prophet Joel said: 'Old men shall dream dreams and the young men shall see visions.' Visions are all right. Build castles in the air, but build foundations under them. Young people often have grand visions of the future, but something intervenes between the visions and success. Some people say one person is born to fail, another to succeed. This is a mistake. The one who fails is the one who found the spring too cold to plow.

"There is the industrial sluggard, the intellectual sluggard, the moral sluggard and the spiritual sluggard. Some people say that young men's opportunities are over, that there is no chance for a young man now. There is no greater mistake made. We are living in the greatest age the world has ever known, the brightest prospects ever offered to man. The time has passed when the untrained can collect wealth. The world is calling for trained men and women, competent to do great things. The difficulty is in finding men capable of doing the big things. Between any boy and girl and the success all are striving for lie years of preparation. The world is calling for the trained mind, the trained hand and the trained eye.

"There is too much work necessary in preparation for life for some people to make the effort. 'A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep,' it is too cold to plow. A position of trust is given to some one who is prepared, but a little job stands between a man and the preparation he needs for his life work. Let the little man have the little job. Prepare yourself for the large position. It is crowded at the bottom of the ladder. Men jostle one another in the struggle for a place. Aim for the top, among the big minds. The masters are above, where they can scarcely touch finger tips. By master, I do not men necessarily the learned professions, I mean reaching the best possible attainments in any line.

"And there is the intellectual sluggard. The opportunity for education is in the reach of every one who will make the effort. We are living in an age when it can be truly said, to whom much is given much is required.

"Out from the night that covers me,
Black as a pit from pole to pole
I thank whatever gods there be,
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not murmured nor cried aloud,
Under the batterings of chance
My head is bleeding but not bowed.
Be not afraid! This day, this hour
To do the work thy spirit glories in
A thousand unseen forces wait to aid.
Be not afraid, begin, begin."

HAS A NUMBER OF DEERS.

Graham Man, Richard Kyle, Says Winter Drives the Deer Home For Feed.

Richard Kyle, living three-quarters of a mile southeast of Graham, has the largest herd of deer in the country, numbering from forty-five to fifty all tol' says the Skidmore New Era. During the greater part of the year there are only from 20 to 25 in the park at one time. The others go out and in at will, jumping a 7-foot woven wire fence, but the cold weather usually brings the most of them home for feed. The severe weather of the last few days brought fifteen of them home, where the timid little animals know that they will always find a friendly reception and plenty of feed awaiting them. One of the little prodigals which had wandered from home, came back with a broken leg, the result of some hunter's gun, and some of them never got home at all.

Mr. Kyle says that surely the people who are so promiscuously using his deer for target practice are not acquainted with the state law and the penalty for shooting deer, and if he finds out the guilty party he will proceed to introduce them to that part of the game law.

Mr. Kyle does not keep his deer park for the monetary remuneration he receives, although he takes great care in importing new bucks every year to keep up their breeding, but he keeps his park for the pleasure he has in seeing the timid and now almost extinct little animal around.

His park contains a little over twenty acres and is situated in the edge of the timber, which furnishes plenty of shade and grass in the summer time and good shelter in the winter months. During the winter he feeds them as he would sheep or other domestic animals.

TO GIVE A CONCERT.

Plans Being Made for One for the Benefit of the Elevator Fund of the Hospital.

Plans are being made by Director Lawler of the Maryville band to give a band concert at the Empire theater on the evening of February 4, the proceeds to be turned over to the elevator fund for St. Francis hospital. This will be the first appearance of the re-organized band, and no doubt a large crowd will turn out to hear them.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, SO CHAIRMAN ROBEY SAYS.

IN FAVOR OF A PRIMARY

Chairman Shannon and Ex.-Gov. Dockery Will Likely Be Here on That Day.

County Chairman Arthur S. Robey will call a meeting of the Democratic county committee for Saturday, January 27, for the purpose of deciding whether the Democrats of this county will have a primary or a mass convention for selecting delegates to the state convention, to be held in Joplin on February 20, when delegates will be selected for the national convention at Baltimore.

Chairman Robey is in favor of holding a primary so that all Democrats in the county may vote on his preference for president. Ballots will be printed for Folk, Wilson, Clark, Harmon and Underwood for president, and the one that carries Nodaway county will be entitled to name the delegates from this county to the state convention at Joplin.

If the county committee decides on a primary it will be held on Saturday, February 10, at the usual voting precincts over the county from the hours of 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and the county committee is to select two judges for each precinct, one that is known to be a Folk supporter and the other to be a Clark man.

If a mass convention is held, the township meetings are to be held on Saturday, February 10, and the county convention will be held Monday, February 12.

If a primary is held it will fall on the same day as the local option election in Nodaway county, outside of Maryville.

At the meeting of the county committee, January 27, it is probable that Chairman Joseph B. Shannon of the state committee and Ex-Governor A. M. Dockery will be in the city to hold a conference meeting with the Democrats over the county.

Chairman Shannon, on speaking of the committee meeting at St. Louis last week, said:

"The followers of Champ Clark have no cause for jubilation, nor have the friends of Joseph Wingate Folk any reason to feel downcast over the action of the Democratic state committee in selecting Joplin as the place for the holding of the state convention February 20 to select delegates to the national convention.

"Men who are attempting to create the impression that the committee acted hastily or that they were not honest in their action are not familiar with the circumstances, and if they keep up their tirade of misrepresentation they will destroy the spirit of harmony which pervaded the committee. Every man present at the meeting was for harmony, and there were no sharp dealings attempted. Everything was done above board, and the decision of the committee was not based on what would be an advantage to Clark or disadvantage to Folk. Both sides were given an absolute square deal."

NO SCHOOL TODAY.

Normal Closed as Coal Supply is Out—A Car on Way.

Were you one of those students who trudged wearily up that frigid Normal walk this morning, and after having arrived at the building, learned that there would be no school today? Such was the case of several students who went to school Monday morning, unaware that they were to be given a holiday. The coal supply was exhausted on Friday, and, as no coal, school was not held Monday.

At noon Monday no coal was in sight, but the authorities are living in hopes that a car will arrive Monday afternoon. In case the coal does arrive Monday school will convene Tuesday morning.
sight, but President Taylor received word Monday afternoon from the superintendent of the Wabash saying that the Wabash would have a car here for the Normal Monday evening.

President Taylor said that school would be opened Tuesday in case the car arrived.

Miss Leeta Wray spent Saturday and Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wray.

Robert Miller of Table Rock, Neb., visited Maryville friends Sunday and Monday.

MRS. HOSHOR DEAD

SHE WAS A SECOND COUSIN OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

LIVED IN COUNTY 37 YEARS

Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Home, South of the City.

Mrs. Washington Hoshor, widow of one of the pioneer residents of Nodaway county, died Saturday night at the old homestead, two miles south of Maryville, after a week's illness of heart trouble. Mrs. Hoshor had made her home with her son, John L. Hoshor, and his family since the death of her husband, which occurred May 14, 1908.

The funeral services will be held at the Hoshor home on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Claud J. Miller of the First Christian church of this city.

MRS. WASHINGTON HOSHOR,
Who was a Second Cousin of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Hoshor was born in Andrew county on Lincoln creek, March 3, 1843. Her maiden name was Annie Lincoln, and she was a daughter of John Lincoln, a native of Kentucky and a first cousin of Abraham Lincoln, the martyred president. John Lincoln moved to Andrew county, Missouri, in an early day and died there at the age of 84 years, in 1890. Mrs. Hoshor was married to her husband July 15, 1866, who was at that time a resident of Andrew county. They moved to Nodaway county in 1875 and settled on a tract of land two miles south of Maryville, where he erected a handsome residence. He gradually added to his holdings until he owned 1,000 acres of land in one body at the time of his death.

WASHINGTON HOSHOR,
An Old Pioneer Resident of the County and Whose Death Occurred in 1908.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hoshor, who are John L. Hoshor, who lives on the Hoshor homestead place; George Hoshor of St. Joseph; Otis Hoshor of Lela, Texas; Mrs. Guy Gray of Minco, Okla., and Mrs. Joseph Stock of Topeka, Kan. Mrs. Hoshor is also survived by a brother and two sisters, George Lincoln and Mrs. Rachel Walker of Fillmore, Mo., and Mrs. Clara Mead of Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Hoshor's daughter, Mrs. Guy Gray, and her husband arrived several days ago from Oklahoma. It is expected that her other children will be here in time for the funeral services.

The death of Mrs. Hoshor marked the passing of two of the county's best known pioneers. Mr. Hoshor was counted among the leading agriculturists of the county.

Mrs. Hoshor had for many years been a faithful member of the first Christian church of this city.

Installation at Pickering.

Mrs. J. B. Moore, district deputy president of the Rebekah lodge, went to Pickering Saturday noon and spent the afternoon with the Rebekah lodge of that place and installed its elective officers, all the appointive offices not being able to be present on account of the severe weather. Mrs. Moore was accompanied by Mrs. Noah Sipes, who assisted her in the work. Before the work of the afternoon was commenced Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sipes were dinner guests of Mrs. John Alexander, two other guests including Miss Ethel Alexander and Mrs. Runnels of Pickering. The evening train to Maryville being nearly two hours late, the installing officers were able to take plenty of time in their work. A delightful social time followed and refreshments of cake, coffee, peaches and ice cream were served. The new officers are Mrs. Belle Burks, noble grand; Mrs. May Hinton, vice grand; Miss Ethel Alexander, secretary; Miss Beulah Rickard, treasurer.

135 ARE ENROLLED

FARMERS SHORT COURSE PROVING POPULAR IN COUNTY.

EXPECT TO ENROLL MORE

Committee in Charge Hopes to Have 150 Names to Send to Dean Mumford at Columbia.

Probably 150 names will be enrolled before evening for the farmers' short course to be held in Maryville under the direction of the state agricultural college at Columbia. Over 135 had been enrolled up to this afternoon. The only condition necessary to secure the short course is to have over the required number of twenty-five students, but as there are so many counties in the state after it the college lecturers will conduct these courses in such counties as have the largest number enrolled.

The names will be sent to Dean Mumford at Columbia Monday evening by Fred Hull, secretary of the Commercial club committee, having this work in charge. It is necessary for the state college to have these names from these counties that are after the course before January 17.

The cost of the course is $2.50 per student. S. H. Kemp is the treasurer of the committee, and the money is to be used only for the actual expenses of the course. Any surplus remaining will be held over to next year for that year's course.

The lectures given here will be in connection with the department of agriculture of the Normal.

SUITS FILED FOR COURT.

One Against the Nodaway Commission Co. and the Other is for Commission Fees.

A suit was filed in Circuit Clerk Rathbun's office for the February term of circuit court by Attorneys I. K. Alderman and W. G. Sawyers for the Union Fuel company, against the Nodaway Commission company. On the first count the plaintiff asks for $235.89 as the amount that is due them, and the second count is for $950.23.

The other suit filed in the clerk's office was that of C. D. Weller vs. Joseph C. Craytor. The plaintiff's petition alleges that defendant listed his farm for sale with the plaintiff, and in case of sale or trade, he was to receive a commission of $462.50. The deal was made, the petition goes on to say, but the defendant has refused to pay the plaintiff the commission.

LANDON IS HONORED.

Elected a Colleague of American Guild of Organists.

It's P. O. Landon, A. G. O., now, if you please. Director Landon received notice Thursday that he had been elected a colleague of the American Guild of Organists, which has its headquarters in New York City.

To be a colleague of this association is indeed an honor, as the guild's membership includes the foremost organists of America.

Mr. Landon was recommended to the guild for membership by E. R. Kroeger and J. T. Quarles, prominent St. Louis musicians, both of whom are active members of the guild.

Both Mr. Kroeger and Mr. Quarles have given concerts in this city and are well known in local music circles.

FACING A COAL FAMINE.

Maryville Out of Hard and Soft Coal, Says Dealers.

Maryville is facing a coal famine, according to the local coal dealers in the city. Frank G. Shoemaker said Monday afternoon that there was no hard coal in the city and practically no soft coal. There are several cars of coal on the way to Maryville, but on account of the railroads being tied up on account of the severe cold weather, it can't be shipped to the city. Mr. Shoemaker said:

"This is the worst fix I have been in since I have been in the coal business. But the same trouble is all over the country, and is due to the railroads, as they are tied up on account of the severe cold weather."

Ten-Foot Primary Ballot?

Lincoln, Neb.—What will the primary ballot next spring look like? This question is being asked by those who are keeping in touch with developments thus far. Last winter the legislature almost stampeded against the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution after its members had seen the ten-foot ballot of South Dakota where all the submitted laws were printed in full. Without the initiative and referendum the primary ballot next spring bids fair to be as long as the South Dakota ballot in 1910.

In 1908 the Republican ballot was fully six feet long, containing as it did the names of a host of candidates for state and county offices, legislative positions and members of congress. This year there will be added to this list, which from present indications will be just as full as that of 1908, the names of all candidates for delegate to the national convention and for national committeeman.

The Democratic ticket in the past has not been so long as the Republican because fewer candidates filed for each place, but this year they are showing more eagerness than the Republicans.

The addition of these names, made necessary by the law of the last legislature, will make the ballot twenty inches longer than it would otherwise be. The condition is brought about by the split in both parties and the expressed intention of putting two tickets in the field on each ballot. Thirty-two candidates for delegate will appear on the Republican ticket, and just that many alternates, not to mention the candidates for committeeman. The Democratic ticket may not be so long for two complete tickets may not be put into the field for delegates. The Bryan forces have declared they will have sixteen satisfactory men, but the Harmon forces have made no similar statement.

Idiocy in Laws.

"Blue laws" are not confined to the pages of New England statute books. Even in the comparatively new and progressive state of Kansas are found legal enactments in the line of something akin to idiocy, says the Chicago Daily Journal.

One of the Kansas City papers has furnished a long list of such laws, the very existence of which probably had been forgotten by those who ever knew of their existence.

Under the terms of those laws $100 fine is the penalty for each of the following "offenses:" Thrwoing rice at newlyweds, selling a cheap novel, the plot of which includes a crime; impertinence to a policeman, and attempting to influence one dog to attack another.

Twenty-five dollars is the assessment for spitting a "wad" of gum on a street, having a barbed wire fence around premises, hitching a horse to a weight weighing less than thirty pounds, whittling on a fence and failing to clean a henhouse once a day.

These are specimens of existing laws in Kansas to which the attention of all persons who insist on "strict enforcement of all the laws" might be called with profit. And maybe examination of the statute books of some other states would expose similar "legal" conditions.

BACK TO 14 BELOW.

Sunday Morning It Was 18 Above Zero, the Warmest Morning Since December 31.

Sunday morning the government thermometer showed that it was 18 above zero, the first time since December 31, that we have had above zero weather in the morning. But on Monday the thermometers went back to their old ways, and it was 14 below zero at 7 o'clock this morning. The forecast is for fair and warmer weather Tuesday.

A Peculiar Case.

A peculiarly pathetic incident came to the writer's notice recently in connection with a case brought to the state hospital, says the Clarinda Herald. A young man, Bennett by name, the son of a U. B. minister of Des Moines, was returning from his day's work when some hoodlum boys threw bricks and stones at him, disabling his bicycle and hitting the young man on the head. He escaped the gang and went into a nearby drug store, where he waited for the appearance of his brother, to whom he telephoned, and then both boys went home. The injury did not seem at all serious except for the fact that some pain in the head was experienced at times. Last Sunday the young man was singing a solo in his father's church when he was compelled to stop in the middle of the song. His voice had deserted him, his memory was gone and the young man has been unable to speak or reason since that time. He hums to himself at times and is not violent, but he is to all intents insane.

His father accompanied him here in the hope that an operation might relieve the pressure on his nerves and restore his reason. This morning (Saturday) nothing was known as to the probable success of such an operation.

The young man is probably not more than 19 years of age, and though unknown to any of us, doubtless the story induces in us deepest sympathy and the hope that he may eventually recover.

Came to See Sick Wife.

Charles Lippman of St. Louis arrived in Maryville Saturday and remained until Monday night with Mrs. Lippman, who is at the home of her parents, Judge and Mrs. C. A. Anthony. Mrs. Lippman came to Maryville about two weeks ago suffering from bronchitis, and has been under the care of her brother, Dr. F. R. Anthony, ever since. She and their little son, Cyrus, will remain until about February 1 before returning to St. Louis.

Won Prizes at Other Shows.

M. C. Thompson, the corn man, of near Burlington Junction, who won prizes at the state corn show last week at Columbia, has also been successful at other corn shows held in this section of the state. He had the grand champion single ear at the Whitesville, Mo., show on December 27, and was third in two other classes. At the Andrew county show, held at Savannah, he won first prize on his essay on "Corn Breeding."

Mark Shults of Chicago was in Maryville Friday, the guest of his aunt, Mrs. M. J. Honnold. Mr. Shultz is a traveling salesman for the Big Muddy Coal company of Chicago, of which Mrs. Honnold's son, Dr. Fred C. Honnold is secretary-treasurer.

SAVED BY HIS DREAM

BALLOONIST TAKES STRANGE VISION AS A WARNING.

Gives Up His Vocation and His Successor Is Killed Within Two Weeks.

A dream in Buffalo five years ago, following an exhibition in a local park, caused Carl McManus to give up ballooning for a less dangerous vocation, and, as he believes, probably saved his life. Mr. McManus is now a traveling salesman for a New York house and was in Buffalo recently on business. At the Lafayette hotel he told his story.

"I am only slightly superstitious," said McManus, "but that dream proved too much for me. I'm mighty glad that it did, too.

"I had gone to bed rather early on the night of the dream, following my exhibition at the park. Things had gone rather badly and I was tired out. A couple of narrow escapes had slightly unnerved me.

"It couldn't have been more than ten minutes after I had fallen asleep before I started to dream. I was up in the air sailing along beautifully. There was no wind and the balloon rose slowly and gracefully. I went higher and remained up longer than usual and then made ready to descend.

"I threw out the ballast and held tight to the parachute, but the balloon failed to shoot up. That was strange, I thought. I pulled the cord and let out the gas. Instead of falling the big bag remained stationary. It was most unusual and inexplicable.

"Thoroughly alarmed and mystified by this time, I cut the cords of the parachute. There was nothing doing. The balloon and the parachute seemed anchored in the air to stay there.

"Then I awoke. A cold sweat covered my body. The more I thought about the dream the more convinced I became that it was an ominous warning. It means, I told myself, that some day I will go up and never come down again alive.

"The next day I gave up ballooning. My friends protested, but I told them I knew what was best for me. I left for New York that evening.

"A couple of weeks later I was reading a paper when I came across an item telling about an accident at an Ohio county fair in which a balloonist was killed when his parachute failed to work. The man who was killed was the one who had stepped into my shoes when I quit. The date was one I had been scheduled to fill. If I had kept my job I would probably have been killed, I told myself. I am not very religious, but you can just bet that I got busy right then and offered up thanks. And the following Sunday I attended church, too."

The Abuse of Bayonets.

A veteran soldier was talking about bayonets.

"A lot of unjust obloquy was heaped on our bayonet makers during the Civil war," he said. "The makers were blamed for defects that were really the faults of us soldiers.

"I saw some interesting bayonet tests the other day that proved this. First, in these tests, a lot of swords and bayonets, and they came out in superb condition. Then they were put through the improper ordeal that too many of us subjected them during the war.

"A piece of bread was toasted on a fine bayonet, and then the hot steel was thrust suddenly into cold water, as often happened in the field on the sudden appearance of an officer. The result was that the magnificent metal became as brittle as glass. Dropped on the floor, it broke into five pieces.

"Three bayonets were arranged in triped shape and a steak was cooked under them. These bayonets cooled slowly, and, when cold, they were as soft as lead.

Altogether Too Expensive.

"Attracted by the whiteness of a servant girl's kitchen tables and floors, I very nearly committed an unpardonable extravagance down in Florida," said a good housekeeper. "Never until I saw her tables and floors did I realize just how clean a kitchen can be. Recklessly I planned to invite the girl to come north and work for me. Before putting the fatal question I said:

"'By the way, Jennie, what do you scrub with?'

"Imagine how I wilted when she said, 'Oranges. Just slice an orange in two and rub the wood. There is nothing like it to take off dirt.'

"And it had been on the tip of my tongue to offer $25 a month to a girl who would require three dozen oranges a week to scrub with!"

Bruied Treasure.

"You're sure there is something in that man's story of buried treasure?"

"Not yet," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "But there ought to be buried treasure somewhere in the neighborhood of his operations, if he has persuaded anybody else to sink as much money as he asks me for."

A Conclusive Arrangement.

"We're mighty particular about table manners when we take summer boarders," said Farmer Corntossel.

"Have you succeeded in regulating them?"

"To a certain extent. We were so afraid somebody would eat pie with his knife that we decided there wouldn't be any pie."

WENT IN SOME HASTE

IN HIS PAJAMAS DOCTOR RESPONDED TO CALL.

"Joke" That the Physician Must Have Greatly Enjoyed—And All Wife Wanted Was for Him to Take Her Home.

How a prominent Indianapolis physician—recently a visitor in Chicago—answered a hurry call from a "patient" clad only in a heavy overcoat thrown over his pajamas and his house slippers, and instead of finding the supposed patient was confronted by a hilarious party of his own friends, was told here at the Auditorium hotel by the physician himself.

"Yes," the Indianapolis doctor began, "I believe I hold the record for being the brunt of the practical joker's tricks. Listen to this tale and see if you don't agree with me:

"To begin with, my wife is a bridge whist enthusiast, while I myself would rather go to jail than to a card party. On the night in question we had both been invited to a friend's home to play bridge. She—my wife—went and I staid at home. Clad in my pajamas, with a sweet old meerschaum in my mouth and my feet poked close to a blazing log in my bedroom fireplace, I settled down to read a new detective story which I had bought a day or two before.

"Along about ten o'clock I grew sleepy. I closed my eyes almost unconsciously and my chin fell on my breast. How long I would have dozed that way before the fire I don't know, had I not been awakened by a frantic ringing of the telephone bell in my office room.

"I blinked once or twice and hurried to answer the call.

"'Hello!' came the voice through the receiver, 'Is this Dr. P—?'

"'Yes,' said I.

"'O, doctor, won't you hurry up to my house? This is Mrs. Thomas. My baby is terribly sick and I don't know what is the matter, or what to do. Please hurry, doctor.'

"It was rather cold out of doors, but I was in a hurry. Mrs. Thomas was a friend of mine and of my wife. It was at her home that the bridge whist party was being held, but I did not remember that in my haste; I threw my overcoat over my pajamas and went to the shed when I kept my runabout. There was a heater in it and as I had not more than half a mile to ride I thought I would be able to withstand the cold. So I started, my coat collar turned up, no hat and the automobile running on high speed.

"As I came near the house I noticed many lights and I thought that truly the baby's illness must be serious. When I pulled up at the block at the curbing I jumped out and ran into the house, never pausing in my hurry to ring the bell. It was perhaps a case of life and death, I thought, and in such cases we physicians never pause for formality.

"I thought it rather strange that I was not taken right to the patient, but I went into the room she indicated and sat down. I was indeed a unique sight for the eye. My hair was sticking up all over my head and at my throat my pink pajamas showed an inch or two and below my overcoat they showed a foot. I had on brown leather house slippers, and between them and my pajama bottoms showed a couple of inches of bare skin. I was a sorry looking sight, I admit.

"Suddenly four electric lights in a chandelier in the middle of the room shone brilliantly, and I heard what sounded like laughter coming from a hundred maniacal persons. In reality, there were only eight of them, but they were maniacal, all right. The first person I saw was my wife, and she was laughing so that tears coursed down her cheeks. The others in the party were literally doubled up. My wife, when she could control her laughter, said.

"'John, I wanted to get you over here in the machine so that you could take me home. But I didn't think you would come without your clothes.'"—Chicago News.

Puzzles for Patients.

Although the patient had waited half an hour for her interview with the doctor the time had not dragged. "I worked on one of these puzzles," she said. "By the way, doctor, you are not a children's specialist; then, why do you keep so many puzzles in you reception room?"

"You answered your own question before you asked it," the doctor said. "I keep them to amuse the grown-ups. Most people who feel bad enough to visit a doctor can entertain themselves better with a puzzle than a book or magazine. Every puzzle that has achieved popularity in the last 25 years has a place in that cabinet. Dentists also rely on puzzles to keep waiting patients in good humor, for even toothache will share attention with a good puzzle."

No Second Violins for Her.

A social leader at Narragansett was arranging for a musicale, and called a local "professor" into consultation.

"I think," he said, "we'd better have two first violins, two seconds—"

"No,' said the prospective hostess, "I wish to spare no expense. Let us have only first violins, if you please."—Philadelphia Ledger.

"AFFINITY" CASE ENDS IN MURDER

J. B. Snead Shoots A. G. Boyce in Ft. Worth Hotel Lobby.

SON ELOPED WITH BANKER'S WIFE

Dead Man and Son Owners of Largest Ranch in World—Both Families Have Millions—Murderer Under Strong Guard.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 15.—A tragic sequel to the sensational elopement of A. G. Boyce, Jr., with Mrs. J. B. Snead, wife of a millionaire Amarillo banker, was enacted here when Snead shot young Boyce's father five times, fatally wounding him.

The shooting took place in the crowded lobby of the Metropolitan hotel and caused a panic. Boyce was sitting in a chair near the entrance of the hotel talking with a friend when Snead came in from the street. The two men saw each other. Neither spoke. Snead drew a revolver from a hip pocket and fired five times, four bullets passing through Boyce's abdomen. Boyce fell to the floor unconscious and died at 10 o'clock. Snead ran up Main street two blocks before he was caught. Boyce was unarmed.

Early in November young Boyce came to Fort Worth and after drawing $101,000 from a local bank ran off with Mrs. Snead, who had been placed in a sanitarium here by her husband who sought to break the relations between the pair.

Boyce and his father own the Capitol ranch in the Panhandle, the largest in the world. Young Boyce and Mrs. Snead were traced to St. Louis and New York and later to Winnipeg, where they were arrested. At that time Mrs. Snead declared she would stick to Boyce, but when her husband arrived he persuaded her to accompany him to Texas. Then began a fight over an effort to extradite young Boyce for abduction. It was asserted Mrs. Snead was of unsound mind. The dispute developed into a fued which has been growing more bitter every day. Both families command millions and are supported by strong friends.

There is considerable feeling here against Snead as it is charged he had nothing against the elder Boyce and that the latter was unarmed and sitting in a chair when shot. Snead is in the county jail under a strong guard and refuses to talk.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR FARLEY

New American Cardinal's Friends Arrange Services to Continue for Ten Days.

New York, Jan. 15.—Wireless dispatches from the steamship Berlin, which is bringing Cardinal Farley back to New York after being crowned a prince of the Roman Catholic church, reported the vessel as making slow progress in the face of head winds and not likely to reach quarantine until early Wednesday morning.

This will give the cardinal's friends and admirers ample time to perfect arrangements for what promises to be one of the most elaborate receptions ever accorded to a home coming American.

Receptions and services in his honor will continue ten days, concluding with a great religious ceremony Thursday, January 25. Bishops and archbishops from all over the United States are expected to attend.

Farmers' Institute Meets.

Humboldt, Kan., Jan. 15.—One of the most successful farmers' institutes of the year was held in Humboldt. J. W. Hamm, president of the association, presided, and all talks were given by local men. Seed corn was the subject under discussion and several farmers gave their experience in shipping seed corn from a distance. Monthly meetings will be held.

MANY ARE INJURED IN WRECKS

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS IN OHIO, OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS.

Fast Mail Train in Ditch and No One Injured—Two Freights Through Trestle Kill Three.

Tulsa, Ok., Jan. 15.—No. 407, the fast Frisco mail train, due in Tulsa at 11:40 a. m., went into the ditch while running 35 miles an hour four miles east of Afton. The engine and seven coaches turned over, the sleepers lighting 50 feet away from the track. No one received a scratch, although the train was crowded. The train is still in the ditch, but the track was cleared late in the afternoon.

Toledo, O., Jan. 15.—Fifty passengers on a Big Four train from Detroit to Cincinnati were injured in a wreck four miles south of Carey, O. Two of the day coaches left the track on account of spreading rails and went into a ditch. Physicians from Carey were hurried to the scene and many of the injured were taken to a hospital in Kenton. Several of those injured less severely were cared for at Carey.

The engine and a bagage car passed over in safety, but the two last cars were hurled into the ditch when the rails spread. The engine then was derailed and the baggage car thrown sidewise across the track.

Ottawa, Kan., Jan. 15.—According to reports received here two trainmen and one passenger are dead and two freight trains are burning in a ditch eight miles east of Osage city. Missouri Pacific freight No. 64, eastbound, at 10:30 p. m. went through a trestle. Freight train No. 52, following ten minutes later, crashed into the caboose, telescoping it. Both trains caught fire. The dead men are A. D. Piper, engineer on 52, who lived in Kansas City, Mo.; Charles Snider, engineer on 64, and Ray Hoke, a stockman of Bushong, Kan. Several passengers were injured.

GOES TO THE MINES FOR MURDER

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 15.—Fred Keehn, one of the principals in the school district fight at Corning, Kan., on July 21, entered the state prison at Lansing to serve a sentence for murder in the second degree. The minimum sentence is ten years. Keehn shot William Bleisner because of a row in school district No. 100, near Corning. Ferdinand Bleisner, father of the murdered man, was rendered unconscious 24 hours. He lost an eye and also was severely injured. Fred Keehn and his brother, August, were arrested on a charge of murder, and August later was released.

The case was appealed to the supreme court and early in December the supreme court sustained the judgment of the lower court. Keehn will go to work in the mines.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL WIRES?

Postmaster General Hitchcock to Recommend Purchase to Congress.

AS PART OF POSTAL DEPARTMENT

Acquisition of Telegraph Lines Would Cost Approximately $250,000,000—Cites Example of European Countries.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Acquisition of the telegraph lines of the United States by the government and their operation as a part of the postal service will be recommended to congress by Postmaster General Hitchcock, according to an announcement just given out by him.

This announcement seemed to greatly agitate official Washington. The White house apparently was especially anxious to discover the whereabouts of the postmaster general, and efforts were made to recall the announcement. It had been made broadcast, however, and the telegraph wires were buzzing with the news. Mr. Hitchcock, who had been in New York, returned late in the evening. He went at once to his apartments and refused to see any one.

It is not Mr. Hitchcock's purpose to recommend the acquisition of telephone lines, except, possibly, in instances where they are operated as telegraph lines and are an integral part of definite telegraph systems.

The latest census figures available indicate that about 100,000 people are connected with the telegraph companies of the United States. The appraised value of the systems proposed to be acquired would be purely conjectural, but it is said it would approximate $250,000,000. The experts who have figured on the proposition are of the opinion that existing telegraph rates could be reduced at least one-third to the public and yet make the investment in and operation of the lines profitable to the government.

The postmaster general in his statement said he had made a thorough study of the government controlled postal-telegraph systems of foreign countries before reaching his decision, and continued:

"Should this recommendation be adopted I am convinced it would result in important economics and in materially lower telegraph rates than now are exacted. In approximately 50 countries of the world—notably in Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Russia, and Japan—government controlled telegraphs now are in profitable operation. In many of the countries they are operated in connection with the postal service. These telegraphs serve an aggregate population of 950,000,000, and in every instance they have been found to be of immense practical benefit to the people, in both promptitude and cost of the service.

It is evident that the separate maintenance of the two services under present conditions results in a needless expense.

TO WORK CONVICTS ON HIGHWAY

Governor Hadley Will Propose Plan to Use Prison Labor on New State Road.

Jefferson City, Jan. 15.—At a meeting of the state board of agriculture to be held in Sedalia, March 19, Gov. Hadley will submit a proposition to work a limited number of convicts upon the public highways of the state. Under a law passed by the last legislature 300 convicts may be employed on the highways after April 1, and 200 additional every year thereafter.

As an incentive to these convicts to demean themselves properly and do good work, the governor will reduce their sentences one-third. In other words, for every two days they work, one day will be taken off their sentences. In the penitentiary the best a convict can gain is one day for three days of labor and good conduct. The governor will apply the same rule to prisoners who are held in jail in counties where the local officials will co-operate with him.

The central cross state highway, judging from a conversation the governor had with Walter Williams of Columbia is eager to secure some of the convicts, and it is expected that the northern route will also ask for some.

Gas Wrecked a Kansas Home.

Hutchinson, Kan., Jan. 15.—A natural gas explosion wrecked the home of Martin Mullen, a Santa Fe engineer and Mr. Mullen, his wife and two children were dangerously burned. Doctors say that George, 12 years of age, cannot recover. Mrs. Mullen and Teresa, 14 years old, are in a critical condition.

Capitol Park Deals Closed.

Jefferson City, Jan. 15.—The state capitol commissioners report to the state board of fund commissioners that they have closed all the deals for property required for Capitol Park. The total price to be paid is $171,450. The original demand was $190,000. The maximum specified by the legislature was $200,000.

TWO MEN IN BURNING MINE

EXPLOSION TRAPS SHOT FIRERS AT WINDSOR, MO.

Windsor, Mo., Jan. 15.—Fred Butcher and Donald McArthur, shot-firers, were trapped in Bowen's No. 4 coal mine by an explosion and all hope of saving them alive was abandoned when flames shot from the shaft. They were the only men in the mine.

The mine was afire and it was at first impossible for rescuing parties to penetrate the east workings of the mine.

Butcher and McArthur were married and each had two children. Searching parties who penetrated the west workings of the mine found McArthur's coat. One man, Hirman Hyde, was overcome in the mine and had to hoisted out.

Mayor Bowen of Windsor, who owns the mine, headed the rescue parties himself. The explosion disarranged the cages in the shaft so that it was impossible to raise or lower them, and the rescuing parties went down through a manhole in the air shaft. Because of the heat and gas it was impossible for the men to remain more than a few minutes in the mine.

The Bowen shaft is one of the best equipped in this district and maintains the largest output. All of the mines are dry, and the explosion is the first serious accident in the district. The mines are shallow, the Bowen shaft being only 75 feet deep.

Immediately after the accident men of the day and night shifts hurried to the mine and rescue parties were organized, but without hope of rescuing the two shot-firers alive.

Both bodies were finally found close together and brought to the surface after the fire was extinguished.

An old negro was taken before Magistrate Scott a few days ago, charged with stealing chickens. The judge took on a very stern air, and in a severe voice said: "Well, what have you to say

"Well, Jedge, I reckon 'taint much use fo' me to say nuffin. I was cotched wid dem fowl in ma possession."

"You admit stealing the chickens, then?"

"Yas, sir, I does."

GRAY HAIRS VANISHED.

Restored to Natural Color by Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of 75, while our mothers have white hair before they are 50. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulhpur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

GRIM TRAGEDIES OF OCEAN

There is a grimness about the brief news dispatch which states that the derelict destroyer Seneca, of the United States revenue cutter service, weighed anchor and steamed out of New York harbor to search for derelicts of the seven-day storm which ended recently. Vessels that have been abandoned at sea, unless deliberately destroyed, continue to be a menace to shipping for a long period following their abandonment. For many years it was customary for sea captains, on coming into port, to report such derelicts as they had observed during a voyage, and the government published charts in which the position of the reported derelicts was shown, in order that sailing masters might be on their guard against collision with them. There was at one time some talk of international co-operation in the task of clearing the sea of these floating ships, but nothing came of it, and the United States government finally took the matter up on its own account, being for a long time the only government which did so, and presumably it occupies that position to this day. The vessels designated as derelict destroyers are specially fitted out with dynamite and other means of destroying and sinking the floating menaces to navigation, and the significance of the departure of the Seneca lies in the fact that the storm of last week is supposed to have caused many wrecks off Hatteras and along the coast of the Carolinas.

HARD TO PAY THE TAXES

Jean Javal, who was elected deputy of the Sens division of the Yonne department in France in 1910, bought a house in Sens just after the election.

Discovering a few days ago that he had never paid any taxes on the property he looked up the list and found that his name had never been placed there.

As no self-respecting socialist-radical republican deputy would care to avoid such an obligation, and not forgetting the weapon non-payment of taxes would give to his opponents in a future election, M. Javal wrote to the authorities asking to be inscribed on the list.

The letter was returned with the notification that his request could not be considered unless it was sent in on stamped paper, with a 60 centime (10-cent) stamp.

Woman and Her Check.

She was brisk and full of business as she bustled into the bank, stepped to a desk, indorsed a check and then handed it in at the paying teller's window.

"You see, I've indorsed it and come to the right window the very first time," she said with a beaming smile. "We women are getting to know a little about banking."

"That's very true, indeed, madam," said the teller, "but this check is not signed by any one."

"Well, I just got it from my husband. He's in Chicago. Here's his letter, telling that he is enclosing it."

"That's all good enough, madam, but the check itself must be signed."

"Here's his name on the letter. Can't you cut it off and paste it on the check?"

It took the teller some time to explain and he still wonders if she doesn't think he just didn't want her to have the money.

Just Letting Off Steam.

An Englishman living in New Guinea writes to a London paper: "A neighbor of mine, just as everyone was going to bed, began to make night hideous with his shrieks and groans. . . . shouting like some midnight roysterer in the chorus of a comic song, and then a blood-curdling wail, as of a dog that bays at the moon. There was nothing particular the matter with the man. In New Guinea we are denied the means of excitement, or the consolations, or the narcotics, or the dissipations, of cultured and civilized men and women, so we must just let ourselves go, and howl and sing and shout, and then howl again. And nobody takes much notice and nobody minds."

Sculptor Receives Decoration.

Albert Jaegers, the sculptor of the Baron von Steuben statue, which was recently presented by the United States to Germany, has been decorated with the Order of the Eagle, fourth class, in recognition of his merit. He was born in Elberfield, Germany, in 1868, obtaining his education in the public schools. Without wealth or influential friends he worked away in the face of many discouraging features, until, self-taught in art, he arrived at the point where his creations commanded recognition. He came to this country several years ago to make his home, and he has an attractive place at Suffern, New York.

The inspector declares the law has been generally ignored in in St. Joseph, particularly by laundries and department stores.

Kansas University Reopens.

Lawrence, Kan., Jan. 15.—The University of Kansas, which closed its classes on account of the cold weather has reopened. The fuel, which was exhausted last week, has been replenished by several carloads of coal from the mines at Lansing. Between 60 and 70 tons of coal a day have been required to heat the university buildings the present cold spell.

VOLUME 2. MARYVILLE, MISSOURI, MONDAY, JAN. 15, 1912. NO. 193.

ADDRESS TO CLASS

WAS GIVEN SUNDAY AFTERNOON BY REV. SPICKERMAN.

AT SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

His Sermon Was on "Preparation and Was Well Received—Other Numbers on the Program.

The cold weather did not prevent a good attendance at the baccalaureate services for the mid-winter graduating class of the Maryville high school in the auditorium at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

All the ministers of the city, Dr. J. S. Ford of the First M. E. church, Rev. W. J. Parvin of the M. E. church, South, Rev. Claude J. Miller of the First Christian church and Rev. Le Larrel of the First Baptist church, occupied places on the platform with the speaker of the day, Rev. R. J. Spickerman of Rock Port.

The class march was played by Miss Lillian Lindholm of the high school faculty as the class members and faculty marched in and took the seats reserved for them. Those in the class are Anna Bainum, Elta Wood, Gertrude Mason, Lucile Carter, Marjorie Wilfley, Cecle Fisher, Mae Growney, Fred Hutchison, Ernest Yeaman and Wood Forcade.

The State Normal quartet, Professor P. O. Landon, Lona Perrin, Harry Mutz and Orlo Quinn, then sang the chant anthem, "Arise, Shine," which was followed by the congregation singing, "Coronation."

Rev. Claude J. Miller read the Scripture lesson found in Matthew the 7th chapter, from the 13th to the 29th verses, after which Rev. W. J. Parvin led in prayer.

"Rock of Ages" was sung by the Normal quartet.

At the close of the sermon Miss Marie Jones sang "The Good Shepherd," and Rev. Spickerman gave the benediction.

The sermon given by Rev. Spickerman was well received and had been looked forward to with more than ordinary interest because the speaker is a former Maryville young man and a graduate of the Maryville high school. He is a fluent and eloquent speaker and held the closest attention of his hearers throughout his discourse.

The speaker said he appreciated the privilege of coming back to his home town and speaking to the class in the school from which he had graduated.

"Standing before a class of young people just about to embark on a life work in the beginning of a century of the greatest progress the world has ever known is thrilling," said Rev. Spickerman.

"The key note of the progress of the present century is preparation.

"I will take for my text Prov. 4:20—'The sluggard will not plow, by reason of the cold, therefore shall he beg in harvest, and have nothing.'

"In that climate, the spring season, when plowing must be done, is cold and wet. If a man postpones plowing till the weather is good, and the work can be done easily, it is too late, and the harvest is lost. The struggles necessary to perfect life are like plowing in the spring-time, when it is cold and wet. Success later in life is like the harvest.

"The prophet Joel said: 'Old men shall dream dreams and the young men shall see visions.' Visions are all right. Build castles in the air, but build foundations under them. Young people often have grand visions of the future, but something intervenes between the visions and success. Some people say one person is born to fail, another to succeed. This is a mistake. The one who fails is the one who found the spring too cold to plow.

"There is the industrial sluggard, the intellectual sluggard, the moral sluggard and the spiritual sluggard. Some people say that young men's opportunities are over, that there is no chance for a young man now. There is no greater mistake made. We are living in the greatest age the world has ever known, the brightest prospects ever offered to man. The time has passed when the untrained can collect wealth. The world is calling for trained men and women, competent to do great things. The difficulty is in finding men capable of doing the big things. Between any boy and girl and the success all are striving for lie years of preparation. The world is calling for the trained mind, the trained hand and the trained eye.

"There is too much work necessary in preparation for life for some people to make the effort. 'A little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep,' it is too cold to plow. A position of trust is given to some one who is prepared, but a little job stands between a man and the preparation he needs for his life work. Let the little man have the little job. Prepare yourself for the large position. It is crowded at the bottom of the ladder. Men jostle one another in the struggle for a place. Aim for the top, among the big minds. The masters are above, where they can scarcely touch finger tips. By master, I do not men necessarily the learned professions, I mean reaching the best possible attainments in any line.

"And there is the intellectual sluggard. The opportunity for education is in the reach of every one who will make the effort. We are living in an age when it can be truly said, to whom much is given much is required.

"Out from the night that covers me,
Black as a pit from pole to pole
I thank whatever gods there be,
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not murmured nor cried aloud,
Under the batterings of chance
My head is bleeding but not bowed.
Be not afraid! This day, this hour
To do the work thy spirit glories in
A thousand unseen forces wait to aid.
Be not afraid, begin, begin."

HAS A NUMBER OF DEERS.

Graham Man, Richard Kyle, Says Winter Drives the Deer Home For Feed.

Richard Kyle, living three-quarters of a mile southeast of Graham, has the largest herd of deer in the country, numbering from forty-five to fifty all tol' says the Skidmore New Era. During the greater part of the year there are only from 20 to 25 in the park at one time. The others go out and in at will, jumping a 7-foot woven wire fence, but the cold weather usually brings the most of them home for feed. The severe weather of the last few days brought fifteen of them home, where the timid little animals know that they will always find a friendly reception and plenty of feed awaiting them. One of the little prodigals which had wandered from home, came back with a broken leg, the result of some hunter's gun, and some of them never got home at all.

Mr. Kyle says that surely the people who are so promiscuously using his deer for target practice are not acquainted with the state law and the penalty for shooting deer, and if he finds out the guilty party he will proceed to introduce them to that part of the game law.

Mr. Kyle does not keep his deer park for the monetary remuneration he receives, although he takes great care in importing new bucks every year to keep up their breeding, but he keeps his park for the pleasure he has in seeing the timid and now almost extinct little animal around.

His park contains a little over twenty acres and is situated in the edge of the timber, which furnishes plenty of shade and grass in the summer time and good shelter in the winter months. During the winter he feeds them as he would sheep or other domestic animals.

TO GIVE A CONCERT.

Plans Being Made for One for the Benefit of the Elevator Fund of the Hospital.

Plans are being made by Director Lawler of the Maryville band to give a band concert at the Empire theater on the evening of February 4, the proceeds to be turned over to the elevator fund for St. Francis hospital. This will be the first appearance of the re-organized band, and no doubt a large crowd will turn out to hear them.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, SO CHAIRMAN ROBEY SAYS.

IN FAVOR OF A PRIMARY

Chairman Shannon and Ex.-Gov. Dockery Will Likely Be Here on That Day.

County Chairman Arthur S. Robey will call a meeting of the Democratic county committee for Saturday, January 27, for the purpose of deciding whether the Democrats of this county will have a primary or a mass convention for selecting delegates to the state convention, to be held in Joplin on February 20, when delegates will be selected for the national convention at Baltimore.

Chairman Robey is in favor of holding a primary so that all Democrats in the county may vote on his preference for president. Ballots will be printed for Folk, Wilson, Clark, Harmon and Underwood for president, and the one that carries Nodaway county will be entitled to name the delegates from this county to the state convention at Joplin.

If the county committee decides on a primary it will be held on Saturday, February 10, at the usual voting precincts over the county from the hours of 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and the county committee is to select two judges for each precinct, one that is known to be a Folk supporter and the other to be a Clark man.

If a mass convention is held, the township meetings are to be held on Saturday, February 10, and the county convention will be held Monday, February 12.

If a primary is held it will fall on the same day as the local option election in Nodaway county, outside of Maryville.

At the meeting of the county committee, January 27, it is probable that Chairman Joseph B. Shannon of the state committee and Ex-Governor A. M. Dockery will be in the city to hold a conference meeting with the Democrats over the county.

Chairman Shannon, on speaking of the committee meeting at St. Louis last week, said:

"The followers of Champ Clark have no cause for jubilation, nor have the friends of Joseph Wingate Folk any reason to feel downcast over the action of the Democratic state committee in selecting Joplin as the place for the holding of the state convention February 20 to select delegates to the national convention.

"Men who are attempting to create the impression that the committee acted hastily or that they were not honest in their action are not familiar with the circumstances, and if they keep up their tirade of misrepresentation they will destroy the spirit of harmony which pervaded the committee. Every man present at the meeting was for harmony, and there were no sharp dealings attempted. Everything was done above board, and the decision of the committee was not based on what would be an advantage to Clark or disadvantage to Folk. Both sides were given an absolute square deal."

NO SCHOOL TODAY.

Normal Closed as Coal Supply is Out—A Car on Way.

Were you one of those students who trudged wearily up that frigid Normal walk this morning, and after having arrived at the building, learned that there would be no school today? Such was the case of several students who went to school Monday morning, unaware that they were to be given a holiday. The coal supply was exhausted on Friday, and, as no coal, school was not held Monday.

At noon Monday no coal was in sight, but the authorities are living in hopes that a car will arrive Monday afternoon. In case the coal does arrive Monday school will convene Tuesday morning.

sight, but President Taylor received word Monday afternoon from the superintendent of the Wabash saying that the Wabash would have a car here for the Normal Monday evening.

President Taylor said that school would be opened Tuesday in case the car arrived.

Miss Leeta Wray spent Saturday and Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Wray.

Robert Miller of Table Rock, Neb., visited Maryville friends Sunday and Monday.

MRS. HOSHOR DEAD

SHE WAS A SECOND COUSIN OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

LIVED IN COUNTY 37 YEARS

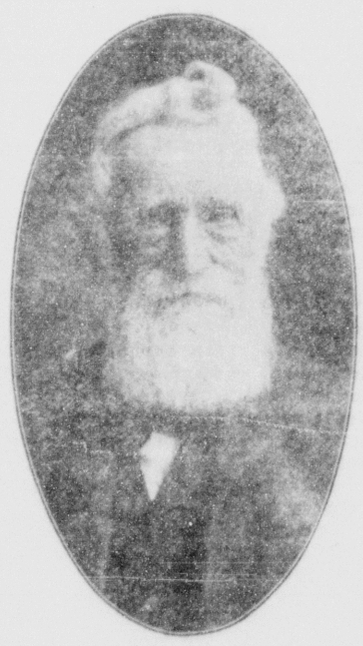
Funeral Will Be Held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. at the Home, South of the City.

Mrs. Washington Hoshor, widow of one of the pioneer residents of Nodaway county, died Saturday night at the old homestead, two miles south of Maryville, after a week's illness of heart trouble. Mrs. Hoshor had made her home with her son, John L. Hoshor, and his family since the death of her husband, which occurred May 14, 1908.

The funeral services will be held at the Hoshor home on Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, and will be conducted by Rev. Claud J. Miller of the First Christian church of this city.

MRS. WASHINGTON HOSHOR,
Who was a Second Cousin of Abraham Lincoln.

Mrs. Hoshor was born in Andrew county on Lincoln creek, March 3, 1843. Her maiden name was Annie Lincoln, and she was a daughter of John Lincoln, a native of Kentucky and a first cousin of Abraham Lincoln, the martyred president. John Lincoln moved to Andrew county, Missouri, in an early day and died there at the age of 84 years, in 1890. Mrs. Hoshor was married to her husband July 15, 1866, who was at that time a resident of Andrew county. They moved to Nodaway county in 1875 and settled on a tract of land two miles south of Maryville, where he erected a handsome residence. He gradually added to his holdings until he owned 1,000 acres of land in one body at the time of his death.



WASHINGTON HOSHOR,
An Old Pioneer Resident of the County and Whose Death Occurred in 1908.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hoshor, who are John L. Hoshor, who lives on the Hoshor homestead place; George Hoshor of St. Joseph; Otis Hoshor of Lela, Texas; Mrs. Guy Gray of Minco, Okla., and Mrs. Joseph Stock of Topeka, Kan. Mrs. Hoshor is also survived by a brother and two sisters, George Lincoln and Mrs. Rachel Walker of Fillmore, Mo. and Mrs. Clara Mead of Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Hoshor's daughter, Mrs. Guy Gray, and her husband arrived several days ago from Oklahoma. It is expected that her other children will be here in time for the funeral services.

The death of Mrs. Hoshor marked the passing of two of the county's best known pioneers. Mr. Hoshor was counted among the leading agriculturists of the county.

Mrs. Hoshor had for many years been a faithful member of the first Christian church of this city.

Installation at Pickering.

Mrs. J. B. Moore, district deputy president of the Rebekah lodge, went to Pickering Saturday noon and spent the afternoon with the Rebekah lodge of that place and installed its elective officers, all the appointive offices not being able to be present on account of the severe weather. Mrs. Moore was accompanied by Mrs. Noah Sipes, who assisted her in the work. Before the work of the afternoon was commenced Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Sipes were dinner guests of Mrs. John Alexander, two other guests including Miss Ethel Alexander and Mrs. Runnels of Pickering. The evening train to Maryville being nearly two hours late, the installing officers were able to take plenty of time in their work. A delightful social time followed and refreshments of cake, coffee, peaches and ice cream were served. The new officers are Mrs. Belle Burks, noble grand; Mrs. May Hinton, vice grand; Miss Ethel Alexander, secretary; Miss Beulah Rickard, treasurer.

135 ARE ENROLLED

FARMERS SHORT COURSE PROVING POPULAR IN COUNTY.

EXPECT TO ENROLL MORE

Probably 150 names will be enrolled before evening for the farmers' short course to be held in Maryville under the direction of the state agricultural college at Columbia. Over 135 had been enrolled up to this afternoon. The only condition necessary to secure the short course is to have over the required number of twenty-five students, but as there are so many counties in the state after it the college lecturers will conduct these courses in such counties as have the largest number enrolled.

The names will be sent to Dean Mumford at Columbia Monday evening by Fred Hull, secretary of the Commercial club committee, having this work in charge. It is necessary for the state college to have these names from these counties that are after the course before January 17.

The cost of the course is $2.50 per student. S. H. Kemp is the treasurer of the committee, and the money is to be used only for the actual expenses of the course. Any surplus remaining will be held over to next year for that year's course.

The lectures given here will be in connection with the department of agriculture of the Normal.

SUITS FILED FOR COURT.

One Against the Nodaway Commission Co. and the Other is for Commission Fees.

A suit was filed in Circuit Clerk Rathbun's office for the February term of circuit court by Attorneys I. K. Alderman and W. G. Sawyers for the Union Fuel company, against the Nodaway Commission company. On the first count the plaintiff asks for $235.89 as the amount that is due them, and the second count is for $950.23.

The other suit filed in the clerk's office was that of C. D. Weller vs. Joseph C. Craytor. The plaintiff's petition alleges that defendant listed his farm for sale with the plaintiff, and in case of sale or trade, he was to receive a commission of $462.50. The deal was made, the petition goes on to say, but the defendant has refused to pay the plaintiff the commission.

LANDON IS HONORED.

Elected a Colleague of American Guild of Organists.

It's P. O. Landon, A. G. O., now, if you please. Director Landon received notice Thursday that he had been elected a colleague of the American Guild of Organists, which has its headquarters in New York City.

To be a colleague of this association is indeed an honor, as the guild's membership includes the foremost organists of America.

Mr. Landon was recommended to the guild for membership by E. R. Kroeger and J. T. Quarles, prominent St. Louis musicians, both of whom are active members of the guild.

Both Mr. Kroeger and Mr. Quarles have given concerts in this city and are well known in local music circles.

FACING A COAL FAMINE.

Maryville Out of Hard and Soft Coal, Says Dealers.

Maryville is facing a coal famine, according to the local coal dealers in the city. Frank G. Shoemaker said Monday afternoon that there was no hard coal in the city and practically no soft coal. There are several cars of coal on the way to Maryville, but on account of the railroads being tied up on account of the severe cold weather, it can't be shipped to the city. Mr. Shoemaker said:

"This is the worst fix I have been in since I have been in the coal business. But the same trouble is all over the country, and is due to the railroads, as they are tied up on account of the severe cold weather."

Ten-Foot Primary Ballot?

Lincoln, Neb.—What will the primary ballot next spring look like? This question is being asked by those who are keeping in touch with developments thus far. Last winter the legislature almost stampeded against the proposed initiative and referendum amendment to the state constitution after its members had seen the ten-foot ballot of South Dakota where all the submitted laws were printed in full. Without the initiative and referendum the primary ballot next spring bids fair to be as long as the South Dakota ballot in 1910.

In 1908 the Republican ballot was fully six feet long, containing as it did the names of a host of candidates for state and county offices, legislative positions and members of congress. This year there will be added to this list, which from present indications will be just as full as that of 1908, the names of all candidates for delegate to the national convention and for national committeeman.

The Democratic ticket in the past has not been so long as the Republican because fewer candidates filed for each place, but this year they are showing more eagerness than the Republicans.

The addition of these names, made necessary by the law of the last legislature, will make the ballot twenty inches longer than it would otherwise be. The condition is brought about by the split in both parties and the expressed intention of putting two tickets in the field on each ballot. Thirty-two candidates for delegate will appear on the Republican ticket, and just that many alternates, not to mention the candidates for committeeman. The Democratic ticket may not be so long for two complete tickets may not be put into the field for delegates. The Bryan forces have declared they will have sixteen satisfactory men, but the Harmon forces have made no similar statement.

Idiocy in Laws.

"Blue laws" are not confined to the pages of New England statute books. Even in the comparatively new and progressive state of Kansas are found legal enactments in the line of something akin to idiocy, says the Chicago Daily Journal.

One of the Kansas City papers has furnished a long list of such laws, the very existence of which probably had been forgotten by those who ever knew of their existence.

Under the terms of those laws $100 fine is the penalty for each of the following "offenses:" Thrwoing rice at newlyweds, selling a cheap novel, the plot of which includes a crime; impertinence to a policeman, and attempting to influence one dog to attack another.

Twenty-five dollars is the assessment for spitting a "wad" of gum on a street, having a barbed wire fence around premises, hitching a horse to a weight weighing less than thirty pounds, whittling on a fence and failing to clean a henhouse once a day.

These are specimens of existing laws in Kansas to which the attention of all persons who insist on "strict enforcement of all the laws" might be called with profit. And maybe examination of the statute books of some other states would expose similar "legal" conditions.

BACK TO 14 BELOW.

Sunday Morning It Was 18 Above Zero, the Warmest Morning Since December 31.

Sunday morning the government thermometer showed that it was 18 above zero, the first time since December 31, that we have had above zero weather in the morning. But on Monday the thermometers went back to their old ways, and it was 14 below zero at 7 o'clock this morning. The forecast is for fair and warmer weather Tuesday.

A Peculiar Case.

A peculiarly pathetic incident came to the writer's notice recently in connection with a case brought to the state hospital, says the Clarinda Herald. A young man, Bennett by name, the son of a U. B. minister of Des Moines, was returning from his day's work when some hoodlum boys threw bricks and stones at him, disabling his bicycle and hitting the young man on the head. He escaped the gang and went into a nearby drug store, where he waited for the appearance of his brother, to whom he telephoned, and then both boys went home. The injury did not seem at all serious except for the fact that some pain in the head was experienced at times. Last Sunday the young man was singing a solo in his father's church when he was compelled to stop in the middle of the song. His voice had deserted him, his memory was gone and the young man has been unable to speak or reason since that time. He hums to himself at times and is not violent, but he is to all intents insane.

His father accompanied him here in the hope that an operation might relieve the pressure on his nerves and restore his reason. This morning (Saturday) nothing was known as to the probable success of such an operation.

The young man is probably not more than 19 years of age, and though unknown to any of us, doubtless the story induces in us deepest sympathy and the hope that he may eventually recover.

She and their little son, Cyrus, will remain until about February 1 before returning to St. Louis.

SAVED BY HIS DREAM

BALLOONIST TAKES STRANGE VISION AS A WARNING.

Gives Up His Vocation and His Successor Is Killed Within Two Weeks.

A dream in Buffalo five years ago, following an exhibition in a local park, caused Carl McManus to give up ballooning for a less dangerous vocation, and, as he believes, probably saved his life. Mr. McManus is now a traveling salesman for a New York house and was in Buffalo recently on business. At the Lafayette hotel he told his story.

"I am only slightly superstitious," said McManus, "but that dream proved too much for me. I'm mighty glad that it did, too.

"I had gone to bed rather early on the night of the dream, following my exhibition at the park. Things had gone rather badly and I was tired out. A couple of narrow escapes had slightly unnerved me.

"It couldn't have been more than ten minutes after I had fallen asleep before I started to dream. I was up in the air sailing along beautifully. There was no wind and the balloon rose slowly and gracefully. I went higher and remained up longer than usual and then made ready to descend.

"I threw out the ballast and held tight to the parachute, but the balloon failed to shoot up. That was strange, I thought. I pulled the cord and let out the gas. Instead of falling the big bag remained stationary. It was most unusual and inexplicable.

"Thoroughly alarmed and mystified by this time, I cut the cords of the parachute. There was nothing doing. The balloon and the parachute seemed anchored in the air to stay there.

"Then I awoke. A cold sweat covered my body. The more I thought about the dream the more convinced I became that it was an ominous warning. It means, I told myself, that some day I will go up and never come down again alive.

"The next day I gave up ballooning. My friends protested, but I told them I knew what was best for me. I left for New York that evening.

"A couple of weeks later I was reading a paper when I came across an item telling about an accident at an Ohio county fair in which a balloonist was killed when his parachute failed to work. The man who was killed was the one who had stepped into my shoes when I quit. The date was one I had been scheduled to fill. If I had kept my job I would probably have been killed, I told myself. I am not very religious, but you can just bet that I got busy right then and offered up thanks. And the following Sunday I attended church, too."

The Abuse of Bayonets.

A veteran soldier was talking about bayonets.

"A lot of unjust obloquy was heaped on our bayonet makers during the Civil war," he said. "The makers were blamed for defects that were really the faults of us soldiers.

"I saw some interesting bayonet tests the other day that proved this. First, in these tests, a lot of swords and bayonets, and they came out in superb condition. Then they were put through the improper ordeal that too many of us subjected them during the war.

"A piece of bread was toasted on a fine bayonet, and then the hot steel was thrust suddenly into cold water, as often happened in the field on the sudden appearance of an officer. The result was that the magnificent metal became as brittle as glass. Dropped on the floor, it broke into five pieces.

"Three bayonets were arranged in triped shape and a steak was cooked under them. These bayonets cooled slowly, and, when cold, they were as soft as lead.

Altogether Too Expensive.

"Attracted by the whiteness of a servant girl's kitchen tables and floors, I very nearly committed an unpardonable extravagance down in Florida," said a good housekeeper. "Never until I saw her tables and floors did I realize just how clean a kitchen can be. Recklessly I planned to invite the girl to come north and work for me. Before putting the fatal question I said:

"'By the way, Jennie, what do you scrub with?'

"Imagine how I wilted when she said, 'Oranges. Just slice an orange in two and rub the wood. There is nothing like it to take off dirt.'

"And it had been on the tip of my tongue to offer $25 a month to a girl who would require three dozen oranges a week to scrub with!"

Bruied Treasure.

"You're sure there is something in that man's story of buried treasure?"

"Not yet," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "But there ought to be buried treasure somewhere in the neighborhood of his operations, if he has persuaded anybody else to sink as much money as he asks me for."

A Conclusive Arrangement.

"We're mighty particular about table manners when we take summer boarders," said Farmer Corntossel.

"Have you succeeded in regulating them?"

"To a certain extent. We were so afraid somebody would eat pie with his knife that we decided there wouldn't be any pie."

WENT IN SOME HASTE

IN HIS PAJAMAS DOCTOR RESPONDED TO CALL.

"Joke" That the Physician Must Have Greatly Enjoyed—And All Wife Wanted Was for Him to Take Her Home.

How a prominent Indianapolis physician—recently a visitor in Chicago—answered a hurry call from a "patient" clad only in a heavy overcoat thrown over his pajamas and his house slippers, and instead of finding the supposed patient was confronted by a hilarious party of his own friends, was told here at the Auditorium hotel by the physician himself.

"Yes," the Indianapolis doctor began, "I believe I hold the record for being the brunt of the practical joker's tricks. Listen to this tale and see if you don't agree with me:

"To begin with, my wife is a bridge whist enthusiast, while I myself would rather go to jail than to a card party. On the night in question we had both been invited to a friend's home to play bridge. She—my wife—went and I staid at home. Clad in my pajamas, with a sweet old meerschaum in my mouth and my feet poked close to a blazing log in my bedroom fireplace, I settled down to read a new detective story which I had bought a day or two before.

"Along about ten o'clock I grew sleepy. I closed my eyes almost unconsciously and my chin fell on my breast. How long I would have dozed that way before the fire I don't know, had I not been awakened by a frantic ringing of the telephone bell in my office room.

"I blinked once or twice and hurried to answer the call.

"'Hello!' came the voice through the receiver, 'Is this Dr. P—?'

"'Yes,' said I.

"'O, doctor, won't you hurry up to my house? This is Mrs. Thomas. My baby is terribly sick and I don't know what is the matter, or what to do. Please hurry, doctor.'

"It was rather cold out of doors, but I was in a hurry. Mrs. Thomas was a friend of mine and of my wife. It was at her home that the bridge whist party was being held, but I did not remember that in my haste; I threw my overcoat over my pajamas and went to the shed when I kept my runabout. There was a heater in it and as I had not more than half a mile to ride I thought I would be able to withstand the cold. So I started, my coat collar turned up, no hat and the automobile running on high speed.

"As I came near the house I noticed many lights and I thought that truly the baby's illness must be serious. When I pulled up at the block at the curbing I jumped out and ran into the house, never pausing in my hurry to ring the bell. It was perhaps a case of life and death, I thought, and in such cases we physicians never pause for formality.

"'Just step in here a moment, doctor,' spoke Mrs. Thomas, who met me in the hall.

"I thought it rather strange that I was not taken right to the patient, but I went into the room she indicated and sat down. I was indeed a unique sight for the eye. My hair was sticking up all over my head and at my throat my pink pajamas showed an inch or two and below my overcoat they showed a foot. I had on brown leather house slippers, and between them and my pajama bottoms showed a couple of inches of bare skin. I was a sorry looking sight, I admit.

"Suddenly four electric lights in a chandelier in the middle of the room shone brilliantly, and I heard what sounded like laughter coming from a hundred maniacal persons. In reality, there were only eight of them, but they were maniacal, all right. The first person I saw was my wife, and she was laughing so that tears coursed down her cheeks. The others in the party were literally doubled up. My wife, when she could control her laughter, said:

"'John, I wanted to get you over here in the machine so that you could take me home. But I didn't think you would come without your clothes.'"—Chicago News.

Puzzles for Patients.

Although the patient had waited half an hour for her interview with the doctor the time had not dragged. "I worked on one of these puzzles," she said. "By the way, doctor, you are not a children's specialist; then, why do you keep so many puzzles in you reception room?"

"You answered your own question before you asked it," the doctor said. "I keep them to amuse the grown-ups. Most people who feel bad enough to visit a doctor can entertain themselves better with a puzzle than a book or magazine. Every puzzle that has achieved popularity in the last 25 years has a place in that cabinet. Dentists also rely on puzzles to keep waiting patients in good humor, for even toothache will share attention with a good puzzle."

No Second Violins for Her.

A social leader at Narragansett was arranging for a musicale, and called a local "professor" into consultation.

"I think," he said, "we'd better have two first violins, two seconds—"

"No,' said the prospective hostess, "I wish to spare no expense. Let us have only first violins, if you please."—Philadelphia Ledger.

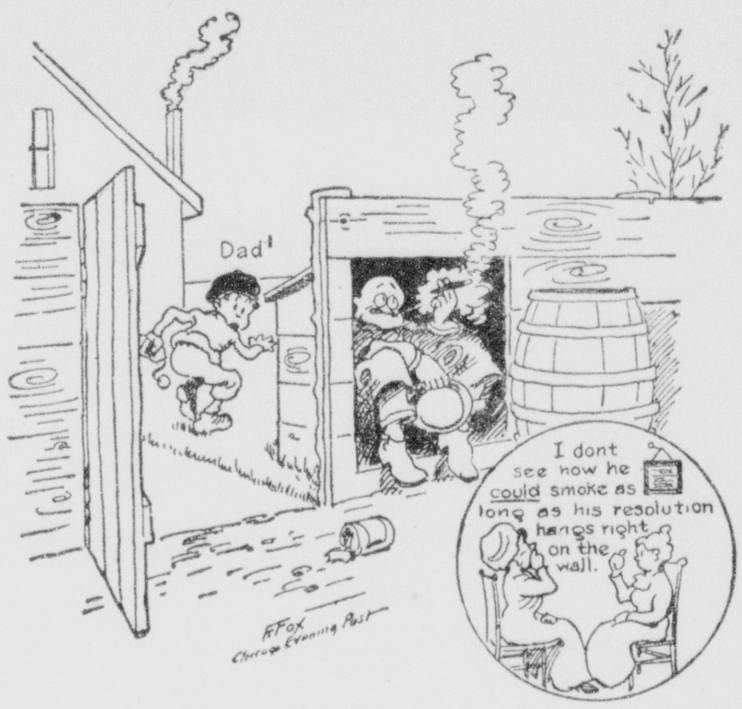
HIS SECRET SMOKING PLACE DISCOVERED



"AFFINITY" CASE ENDS IN MURDER

J. B. Snead Shoots A. G. Boyce in Ft. Worth Hotel Lobby.

SON ELOPED WITH BANKER'S WIFE

Dead Man and Son Owners of Largest Ranch in World—Both Families Have Millions—Murderer Under Strong Guard.

Fort Worth, Tex., Jan. 15.—A tragic sequel to the sensational elopement of A. G. Boyce, Jr., with Mrs. J. B. Snead, wife of a millionaire Amarillo banker, was enacted here when Snead shot young Boyce's father five times, fatally wounding him.

The shooting took place in the crowded lobby of the Metropolitan hotel and caused a panic. Boyce was sitting in a chair near the entrance of the hotel talking with a friend when Snead came in from the street. The two men saw each other. Neither spoke. Snead drew a revolver from a hip pocket and fired five times, four bullets passing through Boyce's abdomen. Boyce fell to the floor unconscious and died at 10 o'clock. Snead ran up Main street two blocks before he was caught. Boyce was unarmed.

Early in November young Boyce came to Fort Worth and after drawing $101,000 from a local bank ran off with Mrs. Snead, who had been placed in a sanitarium here by her husband who sought to break the relations between the pair.

Boyce and his father own the Capitol ranch in the Panhandle, the largest in the world. Young Boyce and Mrs. Snead were traced to St. Louis and New York and later to Winnipeg, where they were arrested. At that time Mrs. Snead declared she would stick to Boyce, but when her husband arrived he persuaded her to accompany him to Texas. Then began a fight over an effort to extradite young Boyce for abduction. It was asserted Mrs. Snead was of unsound mind. The dispute developed into a fued which has been growing more bitter every day. Both families command millions and are supported by strong friends.

There is considerable feeling here against Snead as it is charged he had nothing against the elder Boyce and that the latter was unarmed and sitting in a chair when shot. Snead is in the county jail under a strong guard and refuses to talk.

PLAN RECEPTION FOR FARLEY

New American Cardinal's Friends Arrange Services to Continue for Ten Days.

New York, Jan. 15.—Wireless dispatches from the steamship Berlin, which is bringing Cardinal Farley back to New York after being crowned a prince of the Roman Catholic church, reported the vessel as making slow progress in the face of head winds and not likely to reach quarantine until early Wednesday morning.

This will give the cardinal's friends and admirers ample time to perfect arrangements for what promises to be one of the most elaborate receptions ever accorded to a home coming American.

Receptions and services in his honor will continue ten days, concluding with a great religious ceremony Thursday, January 25. Bishops and archbishops from all over the United States are expected to attend.

Farmers' Institute Meets.

Humboldt, Kan., Jan. 15.—One of the most successful farmers' institutes of the year was held in Humboldt. J. W. Hamm, president of the association, presided, and all talks were given by local men. Seed corn was the subject under discussion and several farmers gave their experience in shipping seed corn from a distance. Monthly meetings will be held.

MANY ARE INJURED IN WRECKS

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS IN OHIO, OKLAHOMA AND KANSAS.

Tulsa, Ok., Jan. 15.—No. 407, the fast Frisco mail train, due in Tulsa at 11:40 a. m., went into the ditch while running 35 miles an hour four miles east of Afton. The engine and seven coaches turned over, the sleepers lighting 50 feet away from the track. No one received a scratch, although the train was crowded. The train is still in the ditch, but the track was cleared late in the afternoon.

Toledo, O., Jan. 15.—Fifty passengers on a Big Four train from Detroit to Cincinnati were injured in a wreck four miles south of Carey, O. Two of the day coaches left the track on account of spreading rails and went into a ditch. Physicians from Carey were hurried to the scene and many of the injured were taken to a hospital in Kenton. Several of those injured less severely were cared for at Carey.

The engine and a bagage car passed over in safety, but the two last cars were hurled into the ditch when the rails spread. The engine then was derailed and the baggage car thrown sidewise across the track.

Ottawa, Kan., Jan. 15.—According to reports received here two trainmen and one passenger are dead and two freight trains are burning in a ditch eight miles east of Osage city. Missouri Pacific freight No. 64, eastbound, at 10:30 p. m. went through a trestle. Freight train No. 52, following ten minutes later, crashed into the caboose, telescoping it. Both trains caught fire. The dead men are A. D. Piper, engineer on 52, who lived in Kansas City, Mo.; Charles Snider, engineer on 64, and Ray Hoke, a stockman of Bushong, Kan. Several passengers were injured.

GOES TO THE MINES FOR MURDER

Leavenworth, Kan., Jan. 15.—Fred Keehn, one of the principals in the school district fight at Corning, Kan., on July 21, entered the state prison at Lansing to serve a sentence for murder in the second degree. The minimum sentence is ten years. Keehn shot William Bleisner because of a row in school district No. 100, near Corning. Ferdinand Bleisner, father of the murdered man, was rendered unconscious 24 hours. He lost an eye and also was severely injured. Fred Keehn and his brother, August, were arrested on a charge of murder, and August later was released.

The case was appealed to the supreme court and early in December the supreme court sustained the judgment of the lower court. Keehn will go to work in the mines.

GOVERNMENT TO CONTROL WIRES?

Postmaster General Hitchcock to Recommend Purchase to Congress.

AS PART OF POSTAL DEPARTMENT

Acquisition of Telegraph Lines Would Cost Approximately $250,000,000—Cites Example of European Countries.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Acquisition of the telegraph lines of the United States by the government and their operation as a part of the postal service will be recommended to congress by Postmaster General Hitchcock, according to an announcement just given out by him.

This announcement seemed to greatly agitate official Washington. The White house apparently was especially anxious to discover the whereabouts of the postmaster general, and efforts were made to recall the announcement. It had been made broadcast, however, and the telegraph wires were buzzing with the news. Mr. Hitchcock, who had been in New York, returned late in the evening. He went at once to his apartments and refused to see any one.

It is not Mr. Hitchcock's purpose to recommend the acquisition of telephone lines, except, possibly, in instances where they are operated as telegraph lines and are an integral part of definite telegraph systems.

The latest census figures available indicate that about 100,000 people are connected with the telegraph companies of the United States. The appraised value of the systems proposed to be acquired would be purely conjectural, but it is said it would approximate $250,000,000. The experts who have figured on the proposition are of the opinion that existing telegraph rates could be reduced at least one-third to the public and yet make the investment in and operation of the lines profitable to the government.

The postmaster general in his statement said he had made a thorough study of the government controlled postal-telegraph systems of foreign countries before reaching his decision, and continued:

"Should this recommendation be adopted I am convinced it would result in important economics and in materially lower telegraph rates than now are exacted. In approximately 50 countries of the world—notably in Great Britain, France, Germany, Austria, Italy, Spain, Russia, and Japan—government controlled telegraphs now are in profitable operation. In many of the countries they are operated in connection with the postal service. These telegraphs serve an aggregate population of 950,000,000, and in every instance they have been found to be of immense practical benefit to the people, in both promptitude and cost of the service.

It is evident that the separate maintenance of the two services under present conditions results in a needless expense.

TO WORK CONVICTS ON HIGHWAY

Governor Hadley Will Propose Plan to Use Prison Labor on New State Road.

Jefferson City, Jan. 15.—At a meeting of the state board of agriculture to be held in Sedalia, March 19, Gov Hadley will submit a proposition to work a limited number of convicts upon the public highways of the state. Under a law passed by the last legislature 300 convicts may be employed on the highways after April 1, and 200 additional every year thereafter.

As an incentive to these convicts to demean themselves properly and do good work, the governor will reduce their sentences one-third. In other words, for every two days they work, one day will be taken off their sentences. In the penitentiary the best a convict can gain is one day for three days of labor and good conduct. The governor will apply the same rule to prisoners who are held in jail in counties where the local officials will co-operate with him.

The central cross state highway, judging from a conversation the governor had with Walter Williams of Columbia is eager to secure some of the convicts, and it is expected that the northern route will also ask for some.

Gas Wrecked a Kansas Home.

Hutchinson, Kan., Jan. 15.—A natural gas explosion wrecked the home of Martin Mullen, a Santa Fe engineer and Mr. Mullen, his wife and two children were dangerously burned. Doctors say that George, 12 years of age, cannot recover. Mrs. Mullen and Teresa, 14 years old, are in a critical condition.

Capitol Park Deals Closed.

Jefferson City, Jan. 15.—The state capitol commissioners report to the state board of fund commissioners that they have closed all the deals for property required for Capitol Park. The total price to be paid is $171,450. The original demand was $190,000. The maximum specified by the legislature was $200,000.

---and remember that every day you fail to save something you lose a chance, that will never return, to provide for old age or for that misfortune that may come tomorrow or for seizing that opportunity of your life when it turns up.

Start saving today. Remember the sands of time keep running on and TOMORROW may be too late.

TWO MEN IN BURNING MINE

EXPLOSION TRAPS SHOT FIRERS AT WINDSOR, MO.

Shaft is Shallow and One of Best Equipped in District—First Serious Accident.

Windsor, Mo., Jan. 15.—Fred Butcher and Donald McArthur, shot-firers, were trapped in Bowen's No. 4 coal mine by an explosion and all hope of saving them alive was abandoned when flames shot from the shaft. They were the only men in the mine.

The mine was afire and it was at first impossible for rescuing parties to penetrate the east workings of the mine.

Butcher and McArthur were married and each had two children. Searching parties who penetrated the west workings of the mine found McArthur's coat. One man, Hirman Hyde, was overcome in the mine and had to hoisted out.

Mayor Bowen of Windsor, who owns the mine, headed the rescue parties himself. The explosion disarranged the cages in the shaft so that it was impossible to raise or lower them, and the rescuing parties went down through a manhole in the air shaft. Because of the heat and gas it was impossible for the men to remain more than a few minutes in the mine.

The Bowen shaft is one of the best equipped in this district and maintains the largest output. All of the mines are dry, and the explosion is the first serious accident in the district. The mines are shallow, the Bowen shaft being only 75 feet deep.

Immediately after the accident men of the day and night shifts hurried to the mine and rescue parties were organized, but without hope of rescuing the two shot-firers alive.

Both bodies were finally found close together and brought to the surface after the fire was extinguished.

The Philosophical Method.

"Don't you find it harder and harder to live within your means?"

"Oh, I found several years ago that it was absolutely impossible. That's why I've bought an automobile and joined two more clubs. One has to manage somehow to keep from letting it get on one's nerves."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Practice Needed.

An old negro was taken before Magistrate Scott a few days ago, charged with stealing chickens. The judge took on a very stern air, and in a severe voice said: "Well, what have you to say

"Well, Jedge, I reckon 'taint much use fo' me to say nuffin. I was cotched wid dem fowl in ma possession."

"You admit stealing the chickens, then?"

"Yas, sir, I does."

"What was your method of procedure in the matter?"

The eyes in the old "coon" bulged out as he said: "Wha' dat you done sez, Jedge?

"I ask you how you stole the chickens?"

"Well, Jedge, now honest, it wouldn't do no good to explain to yo', 'cause it takes years of practice."—Philadelphia Times.

GRAY HAIRS VANISHED.

Restored to Natural Color by Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of 75, while our mothers have white hair before they are 50. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulhpur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agents, Koch Pharmacy.

GRIM TRAGEDIES OF OCEAN

There is a grimness about the brief news dispatch which states that the derelict destroyer Seneca, of the United States revenue cutter service, weighed anchor and steamed out of New York harbor to search for derelicts of the seven-day storm which ended recently. Vessels that have been abandoned at sea, unless deliberately destroyed, continue to be a menace to shipping for a long period following their abandonment. For many years it was customary for sea captains, on coming into port, to report such derelicts as they had observed during a voyage, and the government published charts in which the position of the reported derelicts was shown, in order that sailing masters might be on their guard against collision with them. There was at one time some talk of international co-operation in the task of clearing the sea of these floating ships, but nothing came of it, and the United States government finally took the matter up on its own account, being for a long time the only government which did so, and presumably it occupies that position to this day. The vessels designated as derelict destroyers are specially fitted out with dynamite and other means of destroying and sinking the floating menaces to navigation, and the significance of the departure of the Seneca lies in the fact that the storm of last week is supposed to have caused many wrecks off Hatteras and along the coast of the Carolinas.

HARD TO PAY THE TAXES

Jean Javal, who was elected deputy of the Sens division of the Yonne department in France in 1910, bought a house in Sens just after the election.

Discovering a few days ago that he had never paid any taxes on the property he looked up the list and found that his name had never been placed there.

As no self-respecting socialist-radical republican deputy would care to avoid such an obligation, and not forgetting the weapon non-payment of taxes would give to his opponents in a future election, M. Javal wrote to the authorities asking to be inscribed on the list.

The letter was returned with the notification that his request could not be considered unless it was sent in on stamped paper, with a 60 centime (10-cent) stamp.

Woman and Her Check.

She was brisk and full of business as she bustled into the bank, stepped to a desk, indorsed a check and then handed it in at the paying teller's window.

"You see, I've indorsed it and come to the right window the very first time," she said with a beaming smile. "We women are getting to know a little about banking."

"That's very true, indeed, madam," said the teller, "but this check is not signed by any one."

"Well, I just got it from my husband. He's in Chicago. Here's his letter, telling that he is enclosing it."

"That's all good enough, madam, but the check itself must be signed."

"Here's his name on the letter. Can't you cut it off and paste it on the check?"

It took the teller some time to explain and he still wonders if she doesn't think he just didn't want her to have the money.

Just Letting Off Steam.

An Englishman living in New Guinea writes to a London paper: "A neighbor of mine, just as everyone was going to bed, began to make night hideous with his shrieks and groans. . . . shouting like some midnight roysterer in the chorus of a comic song, and then a blood-curdling wail, as of a dog that bays at the moon. There was nothing particular the matter with the man. In New Guinea we are denied the means of excitement, or the consolations, or the narcotics, or the dissipations, of cultured and civilized men and women, so we must just let ourselves go, and howl and sing and shout, and then howl again. And nobody takes much notice and nobody minds."

Sculptor Receives Decoration.

Albert Jaegers, the sculptor of the Baron von Steuben statue, which was recently presented by the United States to Germany, has been decorated with the Order of the Eagle, fourth class, in recognition of his merit. He was born in Elberfield, Germany, in 1868, obtaining his education in the public schools. Without wealth or influential friends he worked away in the face of many discouraging features, until, self-taught in art, he arrived at the point where his creations commanded recognition. He came to this country several years ago to make his home, and he has an attractive place at Suffern, New York.
